Course Pre-registration Stage 2 Q&A

Category	Question	Answer
Course Registration	Can I still pre-register for courses that have reached full capacity?	A: Yes. A seat may become available if another student drops the course.
Course Registration	Q. I have already been allocated a course. Can I also register for the course with the same course number but different class?	A: No. Under the Course Selection Regulations, you may not register for another course with the same course number as, or a time conflict with, a course already allocated to you.
Course Registration	Q. After Stage 1 allocation, I was allocated a course on Tuesday afternoon. Can I register for another course in the same time slot?	A: No. You must first drop the allocated course before registering for another course in the same time slot.
Time Conflict Handling	Q. What happens if the courses I register for have time conflicts?	A: During allocation, courses with higher priority will be allocated first. If a course conflicts with one already allocated to you, it will not be allocated.
Credit Limit and Registration	Q. Why is my registration credit limit still only 25 credits even though my GPA is above 3.9?	A: Course registration data are prepared in advance, so your credit limit may not reflect late grade submissions or other recent changes. Please contact your academic affairs office for assistance.
Course Selection Results and Allocation	Q. Are the course selection results in Stage 2 my final results?	A: Not necessarily. Allocated courses may still be canceled if: 1.Updated course data imported after course selection reveal a time conflict. 2. A manual review shows that the departmental prerequisite requirements have not been met, as some requirements cannot be fully processed by the course selection system. Students are advised to confirm course times and prerequisites before registering and to review their course selection results again before the add/drop deadline.
Minimum Credit Load	Q. The remark "Prerequisite " appears next to a course in my Course Selection Results. What should I do?	A: After Stage 2 allocation, prerequisite and time-conflict checks will be conducted in accordance with the Course Selection Regulations. If “Prerequisite” is displayed due to a prerequisite course or grade requirement, please submit the NTU Unblock Course Request Form as soon as possible. Repeated courses and courses with unresolved restrictions will be canceled before the semester begins. The form is available for download from the “Course Selection” section on myNTU.
Minimum Credit Load	Q. After Stage 2 allocation, my total credits are still below the minimum credit load. What will happen if I am unable to add any more courses after the semester begins?	A: You will be required to take a leave of absence in accordance with Article 42 of the National Taiwan University Academic Regulations. [Note]If you have not registered for the required number of courses or your total credits remain below the minimum credit load after the add/drop deadline, please submit a Course Underload Request Form. The form is available for download from the “Course Selection” section on myNTU.
